DETECTIVE SCENARIO: Student instructions

A body has been found in a local park.

The Coroner suggests that the injuries found suggest that the person was a victim of a savage dog attack. We have gathered a variety of information from local residents - much of which relates to dog walkers in the vicinity.

As a member of the investigative team, we need to start piecing together the statements and try to identify the following:

1. Who owns which dog, and what toy have they been seen playing with?
2. Which dog attacked the victim?
3. Ultimately WHO is responsible?

If we can factually demonstrate our findings, we will be in a position to prosecute. A wild guess is not enough to persuade the CPS (Crown Prosecution Service) that a case could be taken to court.

You have received a number of statements that need processing, and connecting, to identify the dog owners, with their dogs, and the toys they play with.

Once you have worked this out - report to your supervisor.

He/she will hopefully have received further crime scene evidence from forensics to help you solve the case.

When you think you've solved the case, let your supervisor know ASAP.

(Maybe you'll be the fastest and most accurate detective?)
