

WHAT CAREER CAN I HAVE WITH AN MFL A LEVEL AND BEYOND?

The most obvious answer to this is:

TEACHING!

However, language graduates are involved and employed in a lot of other sectors such as:

- Banking
- Business services
- Charity work.
- Engineering
- Finance
- Hospitality
- Human Resources
- Journalism
- Law
- Marketing
- Media
- Museums and libraries
- Public administration
- Publishing
- Retail
- Tourism
- Translation

Modern Languages degrees typically involve spending a year abroad and this can be an opportunity to find work in a field that interests you and gain relevant experience.

Studying Modern Languages is likely to develop interpersonal and communication skills that graduate recruiters value, as well as other key strengths.